IMAGES

We've never asked much...
Just a few moments of the world's time,
A way to express ourselves,
And someone with which to share
Our joys and sorrows.
When making life's journey,
We often can forget
Just how special we are.
Our classes challenge us
But we know we can succeed.
If we want it enough, we can make it so.
We cheer our favorite teams,
And wonder why we can't all be stars.
On stage, we are given the opportunity
To become someone else,
If only for a moment.
We communicate the joy of life
In our songs
And privately, on a friend's shoulder,
We cry as our world passes us by.
Somehow our friends take on new importance
In this most uncertain of times.
As the school days pass,
We find we are becoming
More of a number
And less of ourselves.
The real world awaits us
As soon as we are ready...
But for the time being
We are content in the knowledge
That it is coming soon.
Because none of us wish to be forgotten,
We spend our time
Creating our memories.
For we are young,
And memories can't wait.

Let's get on with it then, for as these

1990. SAY IT OUT LOUD. It's an awesome sound.

We're already five months into the new decade. To get there we've survived Ronald Reagan in the White House, assorted crises with Iran, the U.S. liberation of Grenada, Oliver North, Jim and Tammy Bakker, the explosion of the Challenger that rocked the nation's space program, Moammar Khadafy, the Stock Market crash and dramatic recovery, the droughts of 1983 and '88, the blizzards of January 14, 1982, January 19, 1985, and December 15, 1987; area factory strikes and closings -- the list goes on.

IT HAS BEEN a most unpredictable decade. We've seen lots of growth and some retrenchment. It seems hard to believe that North Scott High School was, not long ago, home to about 1,200 students. Now we have only 830, but the decline seems to have stabilized.

IN LOOKING BACK over the '80s, the early years brought the retirement of Mel Heiler, the construction of the fine arts auditorium, a new special education wing, and North Scott's largest ever graduating class -- 285 in 1982. In '83, North Scott celebrated its 25th anniversary.

FROM '84-'86 North Scott saw the addition of French class, the founding of a chapter of Students Against Drunk Driving, three trips each to the state tournament for both the girls volleyball and basketball teams. Self-scheduling ended. Open Study Hall replaced SPACE and Craig Hintz replaced Ed Fischer as high school principal.

THE YEARS 1987-89 brought the announcement that Caterpillar would close in 1988, new computer labs and library facilities, a state softball championship, Dr. Pat DeLuca taking over as superintendent and Dr. Gary Ratigan taking over as high school principal. Asbestos was removed from the high school, Saturday suspensions were re-introduced, and freshmen were permitted to apply for Open Study Hall privileges.

AS WE OPEN the final decade of the 20th century, we take many memories, both good and bad, with us:

President George Bush declared war on drugs; an earthquake rated at 7.1 on the Richter Scale rocked San Francisco Bay area at 5:04 p.m. Pacific time on Tuesday, Oct. 17. They were about to start Game 3 of the "Battle of the Bay" World Series in Candlestick Park when the quake hit. It would be an unprecedented 10 days before the Series would resume at Candlestick Park.

FOLLOWING HURRICANE HUGO that had ravaged the South Carolina Coast weeks earlier, the natural disasters made for a rough conclusion to the decade of the '80s.

WHAT WILL THE decade of the 1990s bring? We have no way of forecasting that, but we do know that, as was the case with the '80s, there will be good and bad -- and there will be memories. For the last 180 days or so, we have made many of those memories right here at North Scott High School, memories that will last a lifetime. No matter how rich or poor we are, no matter how beautiful or ugly we may be, we share one thing equally -- time -- the stuff that memories are made of and, as we know, Memories Can't Wait.

LANCER

Bottom Left: THE FOOD LOCKER -- A pinch of this, a bag of that.... These are the things that make Sophomore Chad Haedt truly happy. Whether he bums the money off his parents to buy the food or bums a lunch off a pal, you can always find him munching away.

Upper Left: THE DRAMA LOCKER -- Senior Darcey Timmerman, in an introspective mood think's about an upcoming band contest or drama competition. The speech, music, and drama locker is decorated with pictures of the latest hit show on Broadway or hot concert on the circuit.

Top Right: THE JOCK LOCKER -- Looking cool as a cucumber, Junior Glen Gerardy tosses a baseball in the air and declares, "Pro sports, here I come!" The jock locker is filled year round with all sorts of athletic equipment.

LOCKERS

Upper Right: THE DESIGNER LOCKER -- Although she'd rather be at Macys' or Bloomingdale's Senior Monica Maher, the resident fashion plate, will have to settle for the Limited. Here she prepares to look her best for class. One thing she detests is lack of color coordination.

Camp -- Sept. 29-30, 1989

Middle: Making a thank-you poster are Tori Maxfield, Angie Drummond, Kelly Loesel and Mike McKeown.

Top Right: Daryl Fisher is back from camp.

THE THIRD ANNUAL Lancer Leadership Camp treated 75 North Scott students to a weekend of sharing experiences designed to learn more about themselves, their classmates, their teachers and the qualities of leadership. The camp once again was directed by North Scott teachers Paul Flynn and Tori Maxfield. The camp is intended to help identify and develop more student leaders.

Top: Are these leaders lost? Gyle Smith, Tara Daurer, Cathy Roesler, Tina Hutson, Shelly Melcher and Toni Damron have that look.

Middle: Why are these campers smiling? Julie O'Rourke, Kerri Gall, Tenley Murphy, Kelli Neilson, Gretchen Madsen and Stacia DeLuca aren't telling.

'Youth Goes Wild'

Like most Homecoming celebrations, the 1989 festivities were unique in their own way.

To begin with, school was dismissed at 1:30 on Friday, October 6, so all students could attend the pep aud at 1:45 p.m.

The parade, which was held on Thursday of Homecoming week in the past, began at Ed White Elementary at 3:30 p.m. on Friday, with Grand Marshall Alice Darland and emcee John Courtney leading the way.

Later that night, Lancer fans turned out for the big football game against two-time state champion Bettendorf. The Bulldogs claimed a 41-6 win.

Saturday, October 7, brought the end of Homecoming week with the annual dance in the high school commons and pit. Skid Row provided this year's theme: "Youth Gone Wild." That's what Homecoming 1989 was all about -- having fun and going wild at North Scott's last Homecoming of the 1980's.

JOHN COURTNEY, our Homecoming emcee, waits for the varsity cheerleaders to perform their routine.

SUBSTITUTE DORIS REMBOLD pins a corsage on Queen Angela Parrott while Angie's escort, Eric Rembold, looks on.

SOME OF THE MANY FACES OF HOMECOMING '89 AT NORTH SCOTT

(BOTTOM) RIDE INSTEAD OF MARCH -- The pep band, along with Director Dan Anderson, decide to ride a float in the parade instead of marching.

THAT'S ENTERTAINMENT

In our lifetimes
We meet many new people
But there are few
Who will touch our hearts
In a special way.
We have fun,
But laughter means nothing
Unless tempered with tears.
If we find one to laugh
With us,
We are lucky.
But if we also
Share our sorrow
Then we have found
A true friend.

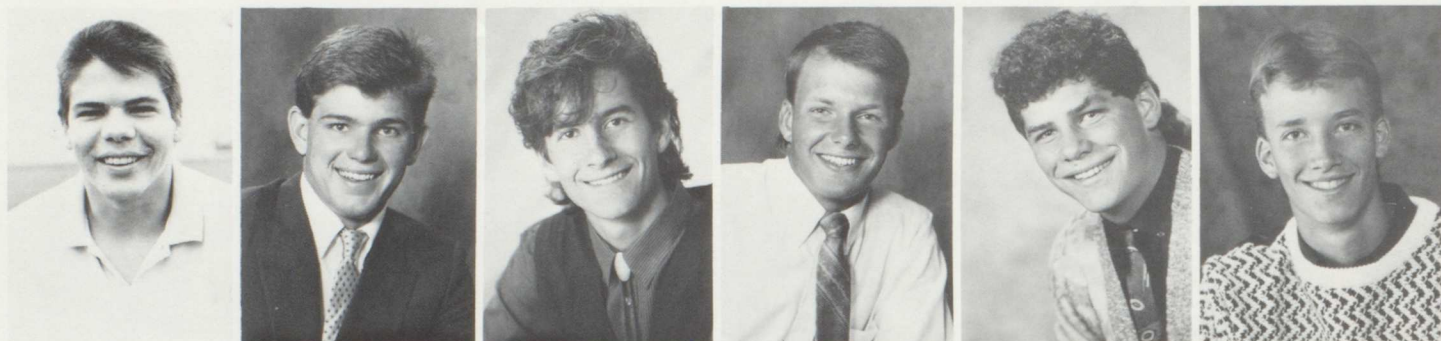

-- Joy C. Schwartzhoff

CANDIDS

How Long Can We Last?

On February 16, 1990, Augie Ferguson received a belated Valentine in the form of a well-worn crown and the title of Bachelor Capture King.

1989 B.C. King Jerel Lee returned from Las Vegas to crown his successor. Augie was escorted in the Coronation Aud by Jill Brandon. Flower Girl Megan Flynn, daughter of Science teacher and Athletic Trainer Paul Flynn, and Crown Bearer Danny Coffman, son of Librarian Quentin Coffman helped Jerel with his duties of crowning the new king.

The traditional B.C. Days of the Week were discontinued this year, due to lack of support in past years.

*To our inimitable, spiffy, howdy-doodly,
tutti-fruity King Augster,*

CONGRATS!

The annual Bachelor Capture dance was held at North Scott High School in The Pit on February 24, 1990. Approximately 250 North Scott couples were in attendance at the dance.

WHAT YOU SAY...

Every year North Scott students say things like "Remember the time so and so did that? I wonder why they didn't put that in the yearbook." Well, this year we decided to ask you about the things you wanted to remember. We can't guarantee everyone will want to remember every event, but then again that's what makes these memories ones that can't wait.

What was your most memorable experience in high school so far?

Here's a fun trick-- run down the hall and shout, "Hey, Mike!" Then stand back and see how many people turn their head. It could get quite messy, considering there are 19 Mikes at North Scott High School. There are also 29 Chris / Kris / Christophers, etc., 15 Carrie / Kerry / Karie / Kerri / Keri / Kari / Karris, etc., and 13 John / Jons. If you think it's confusing to keep track of all these names, try being one of these common-named people. Junior Aimee Gruntorad comments on this problem. "I hate it when someone says 'Amy' and you turn around and they're not even talking to you."

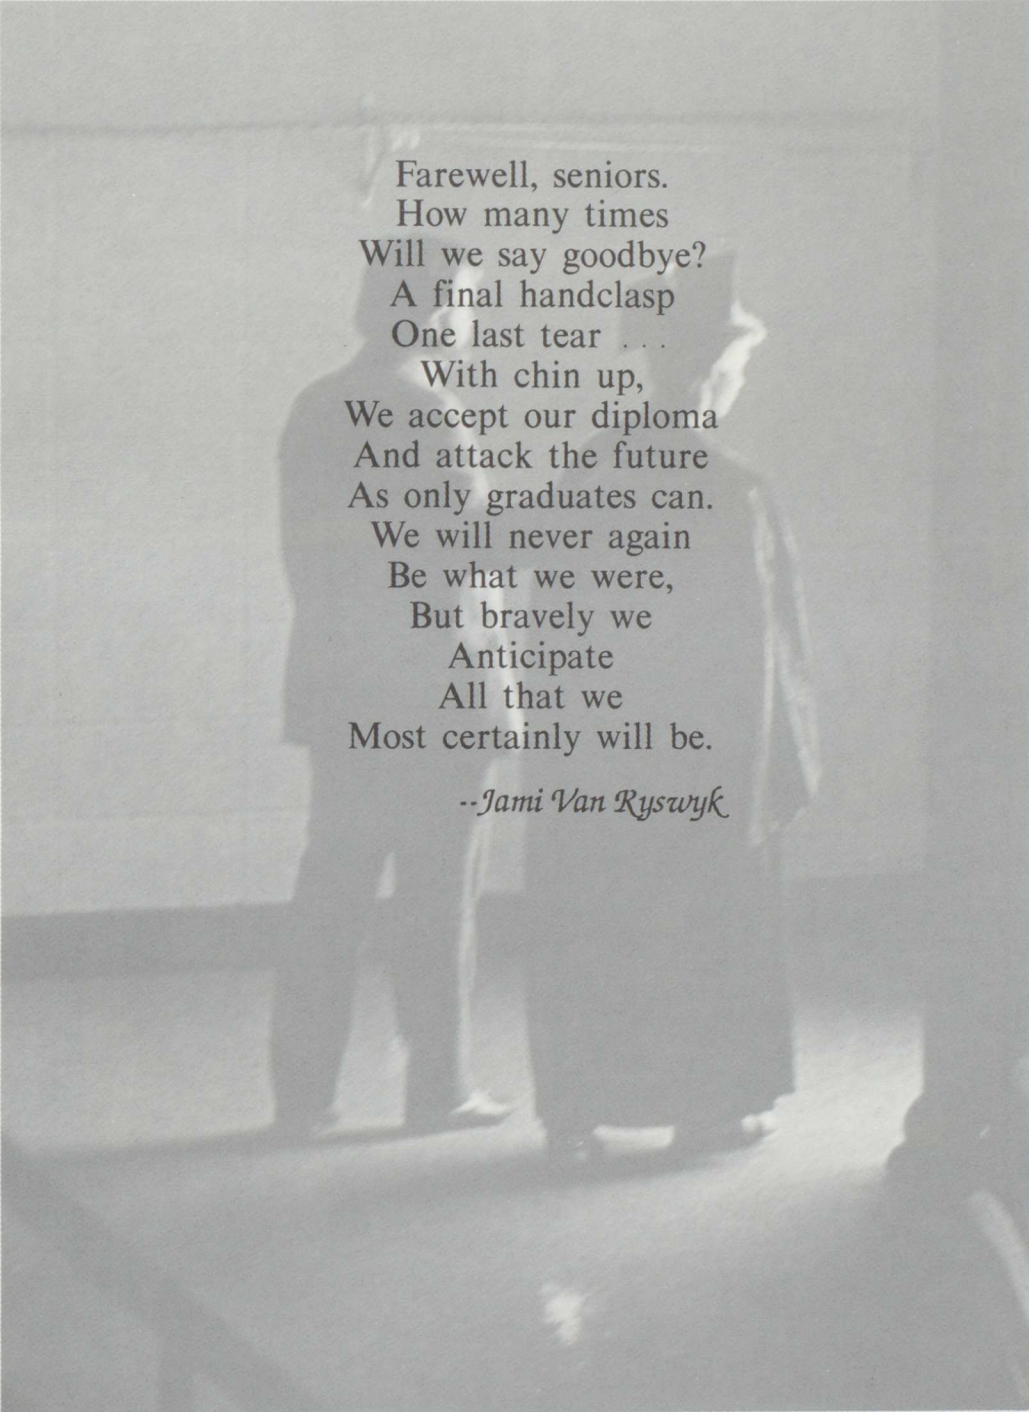

Junior Jenny Wiese agrees. "It's not easy being a Jennifer. I sometimes feel so un-original. I wish my mother had named me 'Bambi' like she originally planned."

SOPHOMORES KARI DUGAN and Karri Pacha are rarely seen without each other, so much so that they are known as "The Karri's." This tends to cause confusion at times, especially when someone is unaware of their shared name.

So is it bad to have a well-known name? Well, it isn't always the best, but at least people won't mispronounce your name!

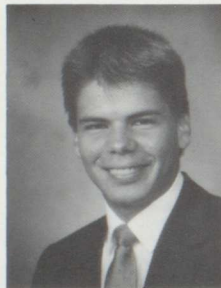

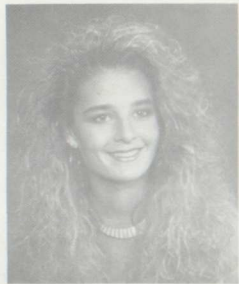

WHAT'S IN A NAME?

SENIORS

Farewell, seniors.
How many times
Will we say goodbye?
A final handclasp
One last tear . . .
With chin up,
We accept our diploma
And attack the future
As only graduates can.
We will never again
Be what we were,
But bravely we Anticipate
All that we Most certainly will be.

as i stood in the dim light
 i saw a shadow on the wall.
 "who are you?" i asked.
 "i am," said he, "an individual person,
 a being.
 "i have depth and feeling
 "alone i am what i want to be.
 "i love, hate, laugh, and cry with you.
 "i am free."
 "oh" i said.
 then i knew that shadow was a reflection of Me.

WHAT HAPPENS WHEN A MALICIOUS NORTH SCOTT SENIOR GETS AHOLD OF SHIELDS FROM 1961-1978? SEE FOR YOURSELF!

THE YEAR WAS not one like so many others. The years of our lives, they say, are numbered. On that list, this will near the top, without doubt.

Time is of the essence it is said. This school year we faced many changes. We faced our nation choosing and reacting to a new president. We faced the newspaper every day with stories of war, violence and people surviving.

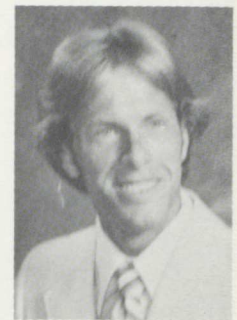

We realized it is time to look up, look behind, and most important, look forward. This is facing it. This is the reality of life--and the reality that we can do something about it.

Jules Verne dreamt of men reaching the moon. We are not dreaming it. We are facing it. We saw faces facing face to face with the face of the moon.

We are pleased to present the faces of North Scott High School. The world is involvement and evolvment...
Let's together, face it...

--The 1969 Shield

"SOMETIMES IT IS hard to tell if we are living in the present or looking into the past. As someone once said, 'The more things change, the more they stay the same.' We need only look around to find this is true. "

TAKE A CLOSER LOOK!

Cooks, custodians and bus drivers play a vital role in the day-to-day workings of the North Scott school district. How would you like to walk to school from Princeton, wade through two feet of candy wrappers, pop cans and discarded love notes on the hallway floor, and eat Fruit Loops for lunch because you didn't have time to pack a nutritious meal? If this idea doesn't appeal to you, then maybe you should take a closer look at the North Scott High school support staff.

The Mystery of Edwin Drood

November started on a high point as Lancer Productions, under the direction of Judith Jacobs, presented "The Mystery of Edwin Drood." "Drood" is a play within a play adapted from a novel by Charles Dickens, who unfortunately died before he could finish. This leaves the audience to decide who killed young Edwin Drood. Was it the villain John Jasper or the delicate Rosa Bud? Or possibly even the (ahem) unique Mr. Rev. Crisparkle? Only the audience knows as they voted for their favorite murderer.

Accompanied by a 17-piece orchestra directed by Keith Haan, the cast traveled to Cedar Rapids' Thomas Jefferson High for the State Thespian Conference on the 10th to perform mainstage. Most involved agreed that the months of preparation were hard work, but that the Conference performance was well worth the effort.

Dinner Theatre 1990 was highlighted by the theatrical presentation of "The Man Who Came to Dinner." Set in the teeming backward metropolis of Mesalia, Ohio, the story centers on the trials of a Mr. Sheridan Whiteside, a famous radio personality. He has fallen on the steps of a Mr. and Mrs. Stanley while coming to dinner. (Hence the title.) Mr. Whiteside is forced to recuperate in the Stanley's humble residence. No one is happy with the arrangements, and precarious situations arise.

The play was performed on February 9, 10, and 11 with a dinner included, provided by Mr. James Hall. Directing the show was Mrs. Judith Jacobs, and Business Manager Diane Hall handled ticket sales. The Dinner Theatre program was created by Senior Kelli Hoag.

Did Kelli Andresen see Mrs. Jacobs with no make-up??

Mesalia is a charming town, and I cannot wait to get out of it.

ONCE AGAIN North Scott High School's pre-eminence in instrumental music was proven by the honors, awards and other accolades earned by the Symphonic Band.

One of the most exciting individual honors for any Iowa high school musician is the opportunity to play in the Iowa Honor Band Festival at the Hancher Auditorium on the campus of the University of Iowa in Iowa City. On Feb. 17 and 18, 1990, eight North Scott Symphonic Band members enjoyed that experience.

Mr. Dan Anderson, who has built a music dynasty at North Scott, is the director of the Symphonic Band.

The positions filled by the officers of North Scott Singers and Red Choir were very important for the 1989-90 school year. Officers were responsible for organizing the details of the Chicago trip in April.

"Man is a make-believe animal. He is never so truly himself as when he is acting a part."

"The job of a drama student is never done." could well be the theme for Lancer Productions this year. Active members participated in a number of activities, ranging from a Lutheran Women's potluck to the State Thespian Conference. LP produced three major plays this year, with two musicals and one dramatic play. In addition, there were District and State level competitions in Individual and Large Group events.

Busy actors were calling the auditorium "home" after a time. "I knew it was bad when I went to fill out a job application and I listed my address as North Scott High School," says Senior Jami Van Ryswyk.

The Fine Arts Auditorium, as well, received quite a workout. The stage was used almost daily for various groups, and on certain days one could find students rehearsing in the make-up room or the mezzanine for lack of space. The stage was also rented on occasion for Gigi's dance studio or Circa '21. Although the auditorium withstood hundreds of raucous Thespians, it could not endure the 60 m.p.h. winds that swept through Eldridge in January. The roof, and Mr. Tom Goodall's patience, were both damaged in the assault.

We Make Our Memories...

"Being in LP gives me the chance to use my talents to do something for other people. I don't perform for me, but for the audience." -- Angie Case (1989-90 LP President)

"I've gained a lot of self-confidence and quite a few close friendships from being involved in drama at North Scott." -- Janeen Heiman (LP Vice-President)

"I like to perform, and the feeling you get when it's over is worth all the hard work. What does being Secretary mean to me? An extra five points!" -- Kelli Andresen (LP Secretary)

"LP gives me a chance to develop more discipline and also improve my skills in positions of authority." -- Brad Frazee (LP Parliamentarian)

"It isn't as easy as it looks. We need support. LP is like a family-- those closely knit friendships are hard to find." -- Brant Peitersen (LP Historian)

"I'm involved with Lancer Productions because of the closeness and the friendships I've gained." -- Amy Bouril (LP Treasurer)

"ONCE UPON A playground came a girl with a funny nose..." begins Reader's Theatre 1990, "Once Upon a Playground." Directed as an Independent Study by Senior Angie Case and Junior Brant Peitersen, the play focuses on the trials of a group of sixth graders, portrayed by Lisa Blanchard, Stacey Bochart, Taga Dumerauf, Kelli Hammes, Melanie Holdorf, Amanda Orris, Randy Riewerts, Kim Rigby, Adrian Sherrill and Susan Tapper.

Competing in the IHSSA Large Group Contest this year in Monticello, Iowa, were many North Scott students. In addition to the student directed presentations of Choral Readers and Reader's Theatre, there were also two ensembles and a one act play. "Rites," featuring Melanie Holdorf and Jami Van Ryswyk; "Steel Magnolias," with Kelli Andresen, Amy Bouril and Angie Case and "Wiley and the Hairy Man," starring Kelli Andresen, Amy Bouril, Angie Case, Jeff Cordts, Brad Frazee and Brant Peitersen, all received Superior ratings at District competition on January 20.

Choral Readers, under the direction of Senior Jami Van Ryswyk, with Assistant Jesse Nagel, was entitled "How To Get High." It was the story of two caterpillars, Stripe (Shawn Schroeder) and Yellow (Danelle Peterson), who meet and fall in love while attempting to find the meaning of their lives. Along the way, they meet Angela Chapman, Nancy Chapman, Ron Knoche, Wendy Patzer and Lynn Peterson. Together with Yellow and Stripe they all discover that "to get to the top, you must fly, not climb."

"The 1989 Marching Band was one of the finest playing bands we've had in a long time," says Instrumental Music teacher Dan Anderson. "The seniors were outstanding, showing leadership qualities in every aspect." With slightly over a hundred people in the band, there were a variety of personalities to contend with. They gave four performances at half-times of Varsity football games, including the traditional Homecoming show and the final show of the season, the Senior Show. This presentation was conceived and arranged entirely by seniors. The support from the crowd was unique, and proved to the Lancer marchers that they are indeed appreciated.

Two Drum Majors, Senior Joanne Wilson and Junior Ryan Riewerts, directed the band on the field. The ensemble was supported by sixteen flag girls and two twirlers.

Concert Band is one of two North Scott High School aggregations. Under the direction of Mr. Bill Kessinger, the Concert Band presented three major concerts during the year, capped by their performance in the annual Pops Concert. At the Winter-Spring Concert on Feb. 25 in the Auditorium, the Concert Band demonstrated its talents with numbers including Charles Carter's Symphonic Overture, Warren Barker's Chinese Folk Suite, Pierre Leemans' March of the Belgian Paratroopers, Selections from Les Miserables, arranged by Warren Barker.

North Scott Singers earned their title this year with a plethora of engagements. All-State audition preparations took most of October, with 20 members of Singers and Red Choir traveling to Iowa City for auditions. Six Singers were chosen for the festival. (see below) The group traveled to the Festival of Trees in December to sing Christmas carols, then performed the same selections in the Winter Concert. Numerous special events prompted impromptu concerts around the building. Choir members also raised money for a cancer-stricken community member. The highlight of the year was the trip to Chicago with Red Choir to perform in the Chicago Choir Festival there. Members raised their own funds for the trip, including sponsoring the 2nd Annual Bowl-a-thon. The activities kept the choir busy, but not necessarily out of trouble.

Red Choir this year was the largest it has been for many years. With 80 members, the group filled the choir room to capacity. Mr. Keith Haan commented, "This choir is really a good group that is a lot of fun to work with. They are also committed to working hard and improving their musical skills. They don't back down from a challenge."

Enthusiasm was abound in this year's Red Choir, as members prepared for the musically difficult Chicago Choral Festival in April. Members of Red Choir also participated in Chamber Singers, the annual University of Iowa Honor Choir and All-State Chorus auditions.

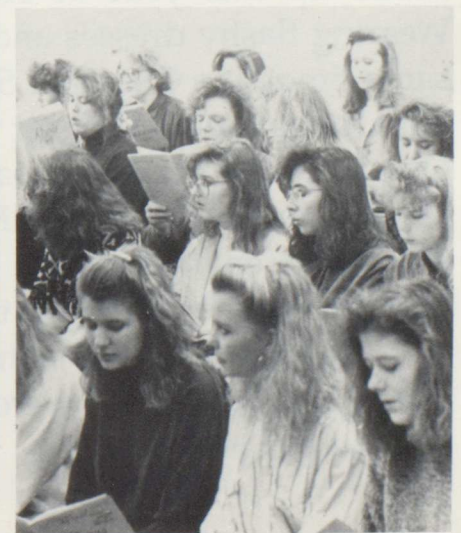

Red Choir's favorite phrase: "I think treats are in order."

CHAMBER SINGERS is a select vocal music group made up this year of eleven women and eleven men. Wearing flashy dresses and stunning suspenders (not at the same time), the Chamber Singers promoted the vocal music department at North Scott with performances all around the Quad Cities. Members participated in the annual Festival Trees, the Metro Music Festival, and numerous annual Christmas engagements. Chamber Singers, together with Jazz I, were spotlighted in the 1990 Swing Show.

MEMBERS OF Chamber Singers were selected through audition, and were then scheduled for the Day 1,3,5 fifth hour class.

Gyle Smith on FCA--

FCA IS AN opportunity to get together with a fun bunch of people and have a good time. At FCA, I can have fun while, at the same time, learn about the things that concern me most.

Through huddles, videotapes, and an assortment of other things, I've learned about God and how He relates to me. I've then been able to take these lessons and apply them not only to my athletic situations, but my whole life.

So, FCA is time well spent for me.

1989-90 FCA Officers:

Top: Matt Engelbrecht, Nick Fears, Gyle Smith.

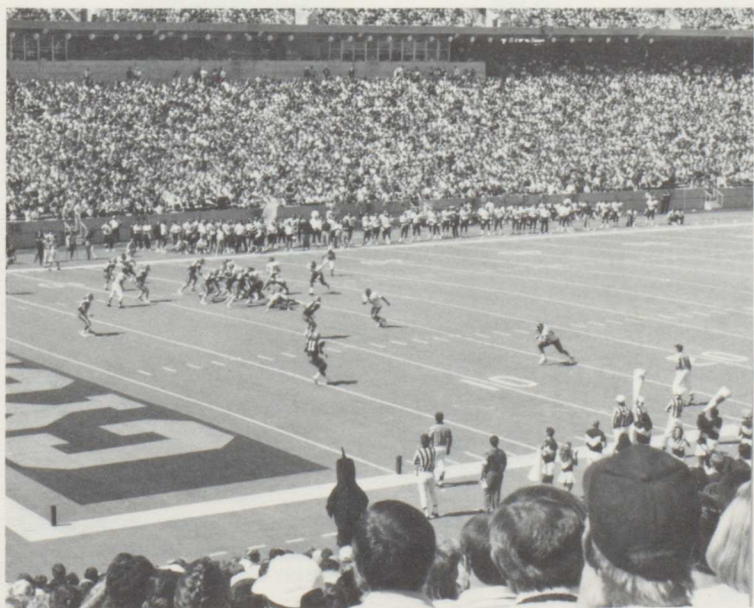

Bottom: Nick Welter, Susan Dobbe, Glenn

What is FCA? Unless you've attended a Monday night meeting of FCA, you might not be sure who they are and what they do. Who they are-- Fellowship of Christian Athletes. What they do-- it might be easier to tell what they don't do.

On September 16, 1989, Mr. Randy Denner drove a busload of FCA members to an Iowa State game in Ames, Iowa. Although it seemed the underpowered 1986 International would never make it there and back, all the students managed the long trip in one piece.

November 1 brought the annual mini-retreat, and the weekend of March 31 was the date for the annual Marshalltown retreat.

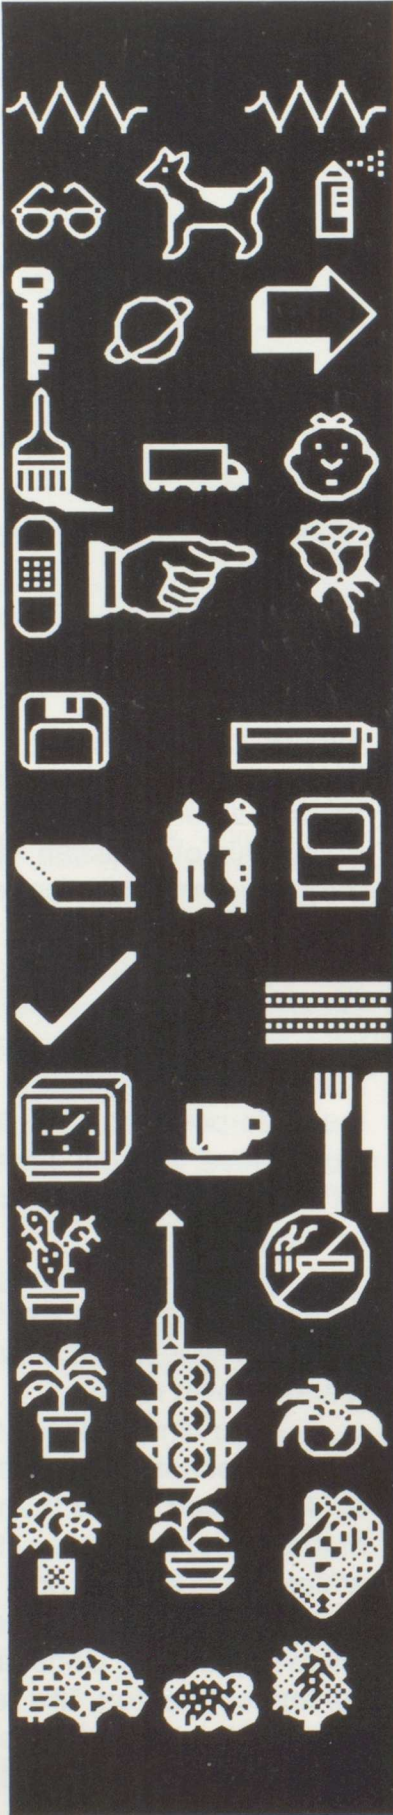

The ninety-nine members of FCA represent many different groups at North Scott. Less than 75 percent of those members are actually athletes, but they all hold one thing in common. They have a desire for fellowship in their Christian faith. One senior commented, "It's really difficult to be a Christian in high school. FCA helps me to feel like I'm not alone."

Neu Oldsmobile*), Renee Braet (North Scott High), Bill Carter (American Family Insurance), John Courtney (Montgomery Ward's).

Don't expect to find these students roaming the halls during 5th hour-- they're not here. One of the advantages of the Multi-Occupations program is a shorter school day for those students who work. However, it's not free time to do as they please--these students all hold regular jobs and get paychecks just like anyone else. They just get credit for it too. Only seniors who have taken one semester of a business course are eligible for the program, but some students may plan for the program earlier. A job is not required when registering for Multi-Occupations. If you don't have a job, Mrs. Tori Maxfield helps to find one. About 25% of the students keep their job when they graduate. The Multi-Occupation program is not for everyone, but those who benefit the most from it are those who have discovered the convenience involved in this working arrangement.

OFFICE HELPERS

OFFICE HELPERS: Front: Dan Morey. Middle: Cheryl Claussen, Amy Siem, Mandi Meier, Danielle Griffin, Michele Davis. Back: Danielle Behne, Rachel Berodt, Nicole Davis.

"Would you like to leave a message?"

Office Helpers answer phone calls, take messages, pick up attendance sheets, run off copies, give change, and help anyone who should need it. The only qualification is to be pleasant and willing to help. Helper work closely with the secretaries in the Associate Principal's office, and also learn more about the administrative process by observing it in action.

Raising money for the trip to Washington D.C. begins with the freshman year. Ambitious students peddle candy bars and other such necessities to earn their fare to the nation's capital.

During the week long Close-Up program, students are able to explore the democratic process from "close up" (get it?). For six nights and seven days students from all over the United States follow a series of activities which provide opportunities for learning. Students visit the House of Representatives, the Senate, the Capitol, the Supreme Court, the Library of Congress and other various federal agencies. Although the trip includes a sparkling night life, it is also very educational. One senior commented, "We have to learn now about our government. By the time we're old enough to vote, we should be able to understand our system. Our opinions can't wait till we're 30."

already spent 10.3794 hours placing on stage make-up and getting in costume.

The anger resulted in the temporary voluntary termination from the wonderful production of Peter Pan, thus creating the N.I.A. The N.I.A. started as a small organization of the two said persons. Over the natural course of time the membership grew to nine members, including Self-Appointed Secretary Kelli Andresen, who was kicked out numerous times partly because she had the lead, and partly because she never officially entered the organization.

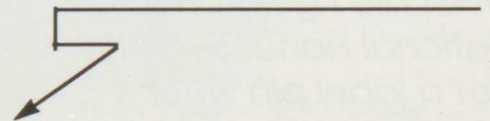

After many late night rehearsals, a motto was established for the group.

*"Those who can, do.
Those who can't, direct."*

In a nutshell, that is the N.I.A.

So for every bench-warming, second chair, not-quite upwardly socially mobile NS student, take heart. There is a way to gain some fame---capitalize on your lack of public notice. (And be glad it's not you that's forgetting your lines or dropping the ball!)

What did I get from being in the National Honor Society? Well, I got a lapel pin when I graduated.

--Mr. Mike Kielkopf

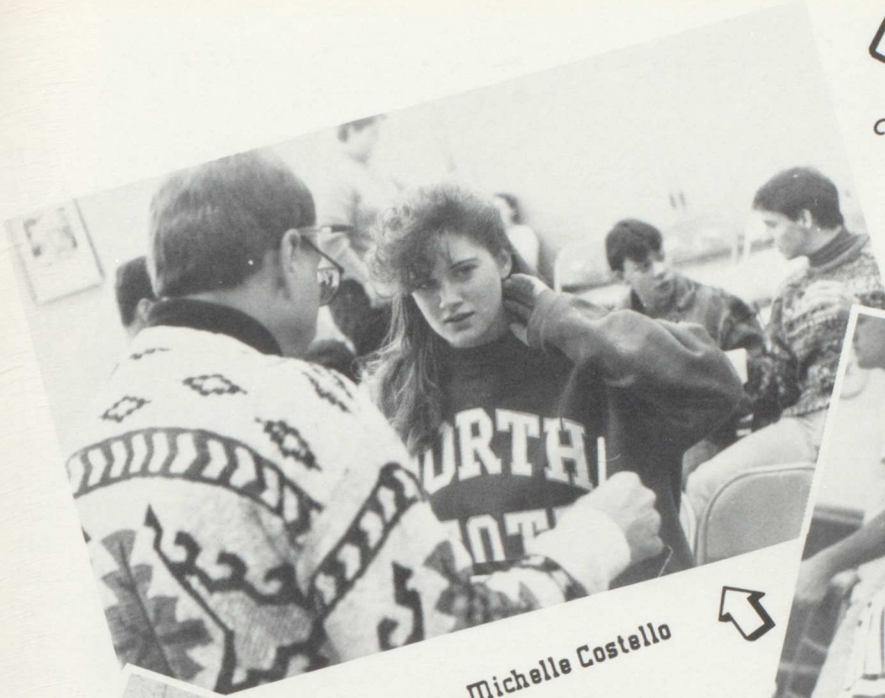

The National Honor Society is, believe it or not, a society to honor teens nationally. To be eligible for the Society, a student must meet the following criteria.

1. Be at least a sophomore in high school.
2. Attain a cumulative Grade Point Average of 3.4 or above.
3. Be involved with co-curricular activities.
4. Demonstrate leadership qualities.

Membership is based on the four bulwarks of the NHS motto: LEADERSHIP, SERVICE, CHARACTER AND SCHOLARSHIP. The participants are chosen by a teacher committee headed by Mrs. Marcia Kleppe. The committee reviews the anonymous applications submitted by hopeful candidates and chooses a certain number of students to be inducted in the spring. "It's an opportunity for students to be recognized for more than just school," says Kleppe.

NEWS FLASH

BROADWAY COMES TO ELDRIDGE...

In a surprise move, North Scott High School became "Off off off off Broadway" on Friday and Saturday, March 10 and 11.

"Broadway" was the theme for the 1990 Swing Show which showcased Jazz Bands I and II, Chamber Singers, Swing Choir and the Swing Show Dancers.

Members of all ensembles spent the majority of the week before the show in the auditorium as they scrambled to organize what was called by many "...the best Swing Show North Scott has seen in quite a few years..."

Numerous North Scott vocal and instrumental students took part in the extravaganza, but two participants captured the hearts of the audience--and also The Shield's nomination for 1990 Swing Show M.V.P. (Most Valuable Performer). Our pick of the season, Martin Menke and Joanne Wilson.

Menke, a sophomore lead trumpet player with Jazz I, entertained and soothed the audience with his

The finale of the event featured all performing groups with a medley of Broadway tunes. As the astonished and apparently satisfied spectators left the North Scott auditorium Saturday night, a freshman girl was heard to say, "I hope we can be that

Dr. Gary Ratigan on the Crisis Management Team--

Each year North Scott schools are confronted with life-threatening accidents, suicide threats and other crises. The impact on the members of the school family is significant when such an event occurs. The purpose of the Crisis Management Team is to provide our district a procedure and a basic set of guidelines with which to respond to traumatic occurrences. This team will be proactive rather than reactive when dealing with a crisis which impacts the school, the students and/or the staff.

This year was the first full year for the Crisis Management Team at North Scott. Initiated second semester last year and made up of thirteen North Scott faculty and staff members, the team is an effort to be prepared and organized in the event of a potential crisis. Meetings are called by Dr. Ratigan whenever a crisis or possible crisis situation arises. Team member Marcia Kleppe states, "If a team of qualified staff is ready when a crisis occurs, it can be handled much more consistently, effectively and objectively." There are many purposes for the Crisis Management Team, but most involved feel that it would not be a tragedy if the team was never used. Kleppe agrees. "It's one of those things you wish you didn't have to plan for."

Future Farmers of America aren't just involved in farming. Anyone who takes Vocational Agriculture classes at North Scott learn that agriculture sales, agronomy, animal sciences, forestry, horticulture, landscaping, and other agriculture sciences are a part of agriculture.

Most North Scott students didn't seem to know this, and maybe that's why membership was down for the 1989-90 school year.

Nonetheless, advisor Janet Steffensmeier said that the North Scott Chapter of Future Farmers of America had another successful year. Many FFA members entered livestock judging contests, such as the Mississippi Valley Fair Livestock Contest held on July 31-August 5, 1989. Also, the trip to Kansas City, MO.--the week of March 1--for the national FFA convention, proved to be very successful.

The only prerequisite for joining FFA is to be enrolled in one of the vocational agriculture classes offered by the North Scott guidance department.

The Student Congress at North Scott performs an important function in the day to day workings of the school. Imagine a school where the students had no input, and you'll understand the value in having a governing body of students.

The most well-known project of the Student Congress is the Bi-Annual Mississippi Valley Regional Blood Center Blood Drive. Students who are over 17 years of age and have parent's permission may donate blood at the site arranged by the Student Congress.

Members also are instrumental in organizing the Lujack-Klik Hunger Drive, where all North Scott district school collect canned food and supplies for needy families in the Quad Cities.

The book that you are holding now was put together over a period of eight months. Back in August, when most North Scott students were still trying to figure out where Closed Study Hall was, the Shield staff was beginning to lay out pages and learning to use the MacIntosh computers. Two semesters, four deadlines, fourteen boxes of developing paper and many long nights later, the finished product has appeared in the shape of The 1990 Shield, Memories Can't Wait. Under the guidance of Mr. Mike Kielkopf, the staff diligently(?) assembled the various sections and created their own style.

In order to work on the Yearbook staff, a student needs to be a Junior or Senior, and schedule for the first hour class in Yearbook Production. However, a good yearbook can not be completed by spending fifty minutes a day. Extra time and effort is needed.

An editorial staff of three seniors headed the group. Angela Parrott served as Editor-In-Chief: Jami Van Ryswyk as Executive Editor and Brian Rathjen as Assistant Editor.

I've learned so much from working on the Yearbook. I started out with no knowledge at all about any of this stuff. And when a class really teaches you something, then it's accomplished its purpose, right?

The Lance

Being editor of The Lance has been very rewarding and sometimes very hectic. Any editor has to face the inevitable deadlines. Those times are crazy for all Lance staffers.

Sometimes it seems like the paper will never come together, but it always does.

This year was a building year for The Lance. Last year was spent learning how to use the Macintosh Desktop Publishing system and the Quark Express software.

WE STARTED OUT this year with some computer know-how so we were able to concentrate more on developing our writing skills and overall quality of the paper.

As the editor, I truly believe the staff and I did our best to improve The Lance by addressing the interests of its readers.

News Editor Sheri Catlin, Assistant Sports Editor Sarah Siemsen and Entertainment Editor John Courtney were freelance staffers second semester.

Editor Kelli Hoag (right) hovers over the Mac to put the finishing touches on another issue of The Lance. An 8 or 16-page Lance was published each month, usually with one spot color of blue, red or green. About 500 free copies of the paper were distributed at school for each issue with another 5,000 copies distributed throughout the community as an insert in the North Scott Press.

Photographer Cy Miller (far right) enjoys talking over his plans for upcoming photos while the National Quill & Scroll International Honor Society for high school journalists hangs overhead. Research Editor Jacque Hammes is in the background.

Beginning with the class of 1990, colleges have stiffened their admission requirements. In the revised course list sent to counselors and teachers, the need was expressed for more math courses.

For both the University of Iowa and Iowa State University, a student needs at least three years of math -- not counting General Math I or II -- and Computer Programming.

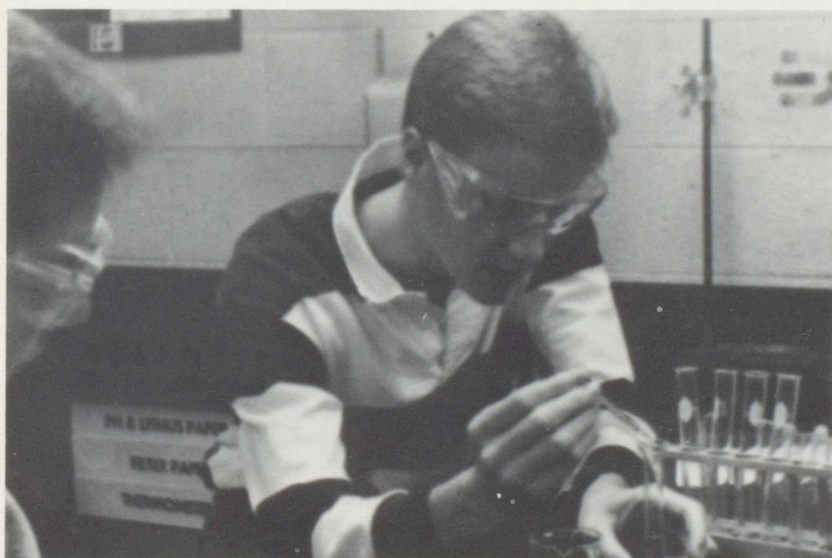

This caused more students than usual to sign up for math courses. Calculus continued to be the top level of math one could attain at North Scott.

As in most years, North Scott students carried out their activities in a very social manner--including taking a few college-bound courses along the way. The most popular classes this year were Psychology and Sociology, both taught by Mr. Andy Agosta. With the retirement last year of Mr. Milton Schatz, a larger burden was put on the Social Studies teachers. Most History electives were filled to the brim. There were a variety of Social Studies courses available, (almost) enough to make a person forget that they needed the credits to get a diploma.

New and exciting changes occurred this year with the North Scott High School M.D. class. Beginning this year, the class had two teachers, Mrs. Bev Hartwig and Mrs. Sally Tobin, who taught as a team. The class had five new students, including a student from Zaire, Africa.

The class had the opportunity to take a field trip to Brookfield Zoo in Chicago, which they financed themselves.

International Business Machines in Moline and Area Education Agency 9 offered the students excellent vocational experiences in their respective buildings.

This year the class enjoyed Special Olympics events. The athletes participated in Bowling, basketball, winter games, and the State Competition in May in Ames, Iowa. These special athletes practice the Special Olympics oath:

With the departure of Mr. John Laughhunn to be the Principal at North Scott Junior High, there was an opening in the position of Athletic Director and Associate Principal. Two Phys. Mrs. Betty Kube recognized a need for change at North Scott, and was the driving force behind a campaign to bring about that change. Noticing that attendance was a problem in the high school, she implemented a plan entitled the 10-Day Absence/Attendance Policy. The absence policy is based on the fact that something important happens in class every day and that the activity or interaction with teacher and students can never be exactly duplicated. Some of the regulations for the new policy included a stipulation that a student could miss no more than ten days of class or risk failing. Appeal forms were available for those students who were affected by this rule.

Perhaps the most significant of additions was the Perfect Attendance benefit. If a student did not miss a day of class all semester, they were not required to take the semester finals. Opposition of the plan noted that even those students who failed a class could be exempt from semester tests, while an "A" student who missed a day for a relative's funeral would be required to take them. The eleven member Attendance Committee reviewed these complaints with possible changes for next year. All in all, it was a lucky break for those students who made the effort to be here every day.

SPORTS

Ready, Go
I'm running as fast as I can, through the crowd
Breathing deeply, wondering, can I get to the front, can I win
I have twenty more miles, oh no
I slowed down a bit, but still keep a fast pace
Breathing deeply, concentrating on the top, No. 1
People are on the side of the road, cheering
My clothes are sticking to me
I'm sweating, burning, hot in the sun
I come to a water stop, but pass it
I can't lose any time
I pass a lot of people, though there're more in front of me
Suddenly I get a pain in my side
I don't stop
push, push, you can make it, I say
By this time I'm running just a little faster than a trot, pushing myself
Only five miles left
I keep thinking, walk Judy, walk
but then I say
no, push, push, get to the front
There're only three people ahead of me
Taking long strides I gradually pick up my pace
Then, I pass the second person
I'm close to the end
Sprinting to catch up to the leader
push, push, I don't care how much it hurts
I can do it
Now I hear my Mom yelling, "Go Judy, Go!"
I am running faster than I have before now neck and neck with the leader, a few feet from the finish
I run, and run, and run
Suddenly I realize that I've won! I did it!
I hear the crowd cheering
and some of my friends pick me up
I actually did it!

Inconsistency played a major role in the 1989 girls' track season, according to Coach Steve Schroeder. But that doesn't mean that the girls didn't turn in fine performances.

One of the low points of the season came at the annual Lancer Relays on May 2, 1989, a night where nothing seemed to go right. Not only did North Scott place 7th out of ten teams, but '89 graduate Connie Moore put a scare in everyone who was there that night, when she collapsed during the 1500 meter run.

Moore and Tracy Schneckloth, also an '89 graduate, were named co-captains. They led their team to a 21st place ranking at the state track meet at Drake University on May 20, 1989. Moore placed 14th in the 800 meter run, and led Schneckloth, Christa Coe--another '89 graduate--and junior Gretchen Madsen --the 4x800 meter team--to a strong 7th place standing. Schneckloth placed 3rd in both the 1500 and 3000 meter runs, and was also the recipient of the Most Valuable Teammate and the Most Improved awards.

Overall, Coach Schroeder was pleased with the accomplishments of the 1989 team.

Coach Delmar Ryan characterized the 1989 boys track season as one of "steady improvement."

One of the highlights of several outstanding individual performances was the record-breaking running of Nick Welter. Welter established a school record for the 3200 meters, covering the distance in 9:52.05. Welter also was the recipient of the Bill Heiker Memorial Award for the second consecutive year.

Another highlight of the season was the appearance of nine Lancer track team members at the State Meet on May 27, 1989. Co-captains Nick Runde and Craig Perry (400 M low hurdles) headed the North Scott contingent that also included Welter (3200 M, 1600 M), Brendan Austin (shot), Ryan Fier (110 M high hurdles), Jason Hamann (3200 M), and Ken Gries, Glenn Armstrong and Gyle Smith (400 M Relay).

'89 team gives girls soccer first winning season for NS

NO longer is the North Scott girls soccer team in the building phase. Head Coach Gordon Krueger made that assertion after his '89 squad posted its first ever winning season, going 7-5-4 overall. The Lancers finished 5-2-1 in the Mississippi Athletic Conference, good for third place in the ten-team league.

Krueger goes so far as to suggest his 1990 squad "could compete with any team in the state."

That 1990 squad is headed by seniors Michelle Costello, Mandi Meier and Kari Petersen. Lily Auliff and Linda Blumer, juniors, are also being counted on heavily to make up for the loss of graduated stars Heidi Krueger, Kris Ion and Jenny McReynolds.

1989 WAS THE year that the boys soccer program produced a winning season with a 7-6-3 record.

After their first game upset over the Muscatine Muskies, Coach Matt Miller knew that the team had the potential for placing high in the tough MAC conference.

Although they lost Larry Hauger, Eric Heeren, and Mike Meier to graduation, the cupboard is definitely not bare. Senior Chris Nevenhoven, junior Ron Zimmer, and sophomores Hans Krueger and Eric Koberg will be valuable leaders in 1990.

They may not be state champions, but the 1989 North Scott varsity softball team is first in Lancers' hearts.

However, back on the week of July 8, 1989, Coach Dennis Johnson wondered if that second trip to the state tournament was even possible. After the girls won their first 21 games, they lacked some of the charisma that they had earlier in the season. They even suffered a doubleheader loss to rival Pleasant Valley.

Somehow, the Lady Lancers regained their fighting spirit, even after settling for a third place MAC rating with Pleasant Valley. The girls swept the regional tourney, besting Cedar Rapids Jefferson to snare their second trip to Ft. Dodge in three years.

There, after losing to Sioux City East 3-0, they walked on the rest of the competition, snaring ninth place in the state at the expense of South Winnesheik, Clear Creek, and the favored Woodward-Granger.

In sophomore girls action, the fact that 11 of the 18 girls were freshmen had no bearing on their 33-4 record. They surprised Coach Linda Behrer, themselves, Lancer fans, and--most importantly, their opponents. They easily roared to a 1st place MAC rating, besting such rivals as Muscatine and Pleasant Valley.

Tony Salas, Mississippi Athletic Conference First Team selection, led the Lancers to an exciting summer baseball season in 1989. And Tony is back again for the 1990 season.

Sean Cavanaugh, an '89 grad, was named to the MAC second team and helped first-year varsity Coach Tom Hoeksema's team to a 16-24 record.

North Scott finished a solid fifth in the MAC Conference with a 9-9 record, a performance that earned Hoeksema Conference "Coach of the Year" honors.

Many of the losses were hard-fought, one-run decisions, including the Lancers' 4-3 first-round tournament loss to Maquoketa. Hoeksema appears to have the North Scott baseball program moving up.

IN SOPHOMORE ACTION, Coach Dan Kell's squad, composed largely of freshmen, managed a 12-27 overall record, 3-6 in the MAC.

Brad Carsten was named team MVP. Dave Schnorenburg was chosen "Mr. Hustle" and Andy Laake was named the "Outstanding Pitcher."

THE 1989 TENNIS season was tough on the Lancer girls. The girls managed only two wins against nine losses. Although the season was a bit slow, there were many outstanding individual showings. Besides Cris Roesler--an '89 graduate--being voted MVP by her teammates, juniors Tenley Murphy and Traci Hutson were honored as Best Doubles Team.

Coach John Hawley says he's not discouraged by the team's poor record. He helped to set up the Summer Tennis Camp during 1989. He also plans to outfit his girls in new uniforms with the Lancer Tennis logo. Hawley says he expects an improved team in the spring of 1990.

BOYS TENNIS

THE 1989 BOYS Tennis team was not very successful in terms of wins and losses, compiling a 1-8 record. The Lancers' only win came at the expense of Geneseo, Ill.

Coach Theresa Speth cited '89 graduate Robb Kapinski as the team leader. Kapinski and junior Ryan Riewerts were the most successful doubles team.

The North Scott tennis program may be more successful as a result of the 1989 Summer Tennis Camp which has given a new impetus to the program as it goes into the 1990 season.

FRESHMAN VOLLEYBALL

Goedken reviews freshman season

"I thought we improved every day. We worked hard on the little things, whether it was position on the court, spike approach, or just developing the fundamentals.

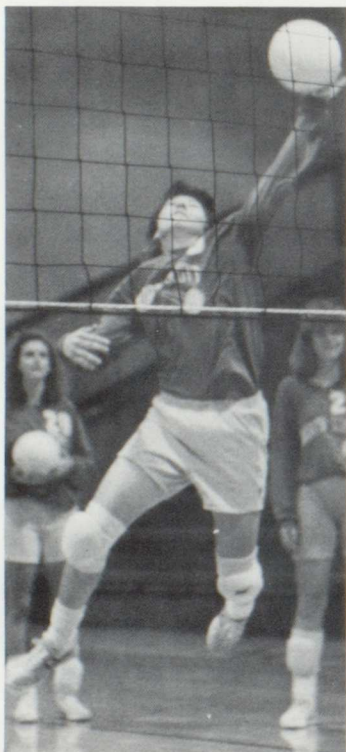

"Kelly Roberts and Alicia Dewey worked hard at the net, and they have the potential to become good players. Lisa Holden and Des Behne were our setters, and they handled the pressure of running the team. They were leaders in serving, serve reception, and setting. Other players contributed to the team as well.

"OUR CONCEPT this year was 'team'. We emphasized working together, no matter if they played the whole time, or if they were role players. Volleyball is such a team sport that it takes everyone on the team to help each other out. Our hitters were able to get the ball in play because our setters did an excellent job of setting the ball where they could hit it. Also, our back row did a nice job of receiving the serve. In order to develop the 'team' concept, we had a lot of fun off the volleyball court, too. We had pizza parties, watched videos, selected team captains, developed team and individual goals, and just a lot of other little things.

"KIM LORENZEN received the Team Award. Kim exemplified the characteristics of a team player; she was always willing to learn; she used her abilities to her best advantage. She did what I asked her to do for the sake of the team. Kim is the epitome of a true team player.

"We were 14-6 overall, and one of our highlights was our second place finish in the Williams Invitational. We just tried to work on the little things and do them the right way."

Up-and-down year for Lancer Varsity

JUST FIVE SHORT years ago, in 1985, Deb Menke coached the most respected, if not the most feared, volleyball team in the state of Iowa. That year, she coached her team to the state championship, beating Dubuque Walhert for the Class 3A state title. It was, as they say, a dream come true.

This year, however, things were different. Mrs. Menke's Varsity Volleyball team was never quite able to get on a roll and had to settle for a 7-11 season record.

THE LADY LANCERS lost to Bettendorf in the opening round of the regional tournament.

Senior Jeni Claeys was named to the 2nd-team All-State for the second year in a row. Jill Brandon, Brenda Iversen and Sarah Siemsen received All-State honorable mentions.

THINGS JUST DIDN'T go the way they hoped this year as the 1989 freshman football team suffered a winless season. Even the "B" game action was unsuccessful as the freshman Lancers narrowly lost their only game to the Clinton reserves 20-14.

Despite failing to win, the freshmen made a great effort, according to the coaching staff. Head Coach Jeff Newmeister cited Josh Younkin as the team leader and pegged Younkin as a future Lancer star.

The 1989 sophomore football team gave Coach Steve Schroeder his first winning record since becoming head sophomore coach in 1983. His gridders chocked up an impressive 5-4 record, earning them a 3rd place MAC rating.

The team played many classic (and close) football games, and three of the four games they lost were close.

Many sophomores will likely help out the varsity squad in the fall of 1990. The question remains: can they give North Scott's varsity football team a winning record under Coach Aaron VanDyke?

FOOTBALL

IF a team could win the state championship for sheer guts alone, the 1989 North Scott football team would have won the state championship.

Unfortunately, they had to face harsh reality. To begin with, only 29 players dressed out for the season opener against Burlington. As the season wore on the team was depleted by injury, and then you have a team that perhaps lost the numbers game as they won only two of their nine games.

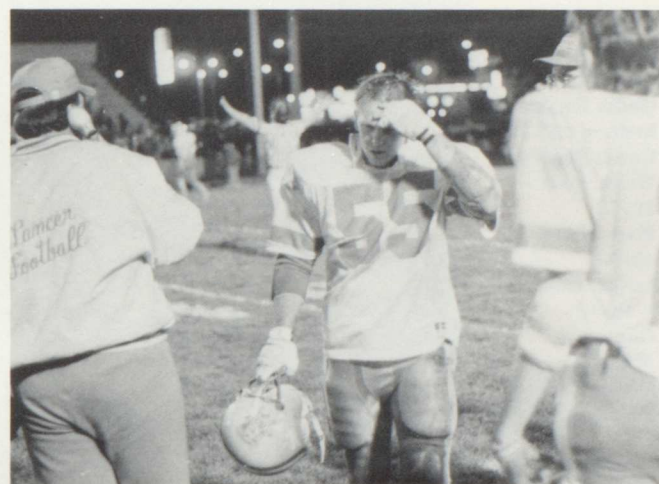

THE FIRST NS victory came on a windy September night, when Clinton visited Lancer Stadium. The high wind was at the Lancers' advantage and they managed to win, 10-7. The other victory came at Muscatine, where North Scott won 13-8.

In the other seven games, it just wasn't meant to be. But with the prospect of many talented sophomores joining the squad in 1990, a winning season under Coach Aaron Van Dyke doesn't seem too far away.

THE 1989 GIRLS cross country team did not repeat as state champions managing an 8th-place finish in the district meet at Muscatine. Only the top four finishers advance to State.

However, Coach Dennis Johnson was pleased at the talent his team possessed, including freshman standouts Audra Madden and Jenny Rock. Returning from last year's state championship team were Sophomore Stephanie Goodrich and Juniors Gretchen Madsen and Barb Petersen.

But Johnson may not coach cross-country in 1990, for shortly after the season-ending district meet, he handed in his resignation which was accepted pending finding a suitable replacement. Johnson said he wants to spend more time teaching and with his family.

Since the start of the cross-country program in the fall of 1977, Johnson has molded the girls' cross country team into one of the most respected in Iowa. He coached '85 NS graduate Wendy Bare to a state championship and coached the Lancers to a state championship in 1988.

All-Stater Nick Welter leads X-Country team

THE 1989 BOYS cross country team had a successful year, but the major highlight of the season was the appearance of Senior Nick Welter at the State Meet in Ames on Oct. 28, 1989. Welter placed 5th in the State Meet to earn All-State recognition.

Coach Rich Madsen said he was pleased with how all his runners performed in 1989.

He added that Welter, who won the Mississippi Athletic Conference crown, could just as well have won the state title, too. Madsen said he is confident Welter will have a very successful cross country career in the college ranks.

GIRLS GOLF

The 1989 girl's golf team made its second consecutive trip to state, but finished May 31, 1989, with a sour taste in their mouths as they placed 6th in the Ottumwa-based tournament.

Coach Marcia Wilkins was undoubtedly surprised by the performances of first year "rookies" Beth Bader and Dawn Freitag. This duo proved to be valuable leaders in 1989. They led the team all season long in scoring, and even helped their teammates to win the Lancer Invitational for the very first time.

Coach Wilkins expects big things in 1990. Other teams in the state of Iowa had best beware of Beth Bader and Dawn Freitag. They will prove to be valuable leaders in 1990, and possibly help their team to a third state tournament appearance.

CURRAN LEADS '89 GOLFERS TO 8-8 RECORD

THE 1989 BOYS golf team didn't exactly have a banner year, but having an overall 8-8 record is respectable.

SENIOR CHRIS CURRAN was voted the team's MVP and led the team in scoring all season long. The golf team finished 8th at the District Meet.

HEAD COACH MARCIA Wilkins is looking forward to 1990 when stars such as Jake Volbeer are expected to lead the team.

SWEAT + SACRIFICE = SUCCESS

This was the equation of this year's Girl's Basketball Team. Pre-season polls picked the Lancers 7th in the M.A.C. Conference and not even mentioned as a state prospect coming off a 6-13 season last year.

The first step to success is believing in yourself--and how this team believed. By the time the regular season ended, they had finished 4th in the conference and had earned the state's 20th ranking. They did not stop there. The Lancers entered tournament play action against DeWitt, the 10th ranked team in the state and the favorite of our region. We won. They continued until the Regional Semi-Final where they were upended, which brought the season to a close.

The team finished 13-8, and of those eight losses, only one came from an unrated team. Five of our thirteen wins were from state-ranked teams. Of the eight teams that made it to the State Tournament in Des Moines, we beat one and lost by small margins to two.

If you have done your best, you have won. THIS WAS A TEAM OF WINNERS!!

Coach Matt Miller-- This was a great group to work with! They came a long way this season and I look for big things from them in the future.

Alisa Ulloa-- This year our record wasn't that great; but look out next year we're going to state!

Sarah Rashid-- This year we didn't play too cool, but when we play next year, we're gonna rule!

Neva Hoffman-- Our season was a long and grueling one, but through it all we had lots of fun.

FRESHMAN GIRLS BASKETBALL

A heartfelt 45-40 loss to DeWitt Central and a second place finish in the first annual Lancer Freshman Invitational was not quite the way the 1989-90 freshman girls basketball team wanted to end their season, but if an impressive 14-4 record is any consolation, coach Ken Nevenhoven is sure to accept anything.

The team, led by Des Behne and Anne Wittkowski, came into their freshman year undefeated since becoming a unit in September, 1987, as 7th graders. And, until January 4, 1990, they remained undefeated. On that day, Sudlow Jr. High dealt the girls a 69-64 loss, ending their two and one-half year winning streak.

The girls were very impressive, and should help lead Bill McCoy's team back to state in future years.

Feverish play, fanatic fans rekindle boys b-ball

ALL INDICATIONS are that North Scott High School's 1989-90 Boys Basketball team will be remembered as the team that brought Lancers' basketball to a new level of achievement.

The most concrete evidence may have been in the tournament opener when -- for the first time in 16 years -- the Lancer boys won. The Lancers whipped Clinton on their own floor, 76-64.

Then, against 19-2 Maquoketa in the next game, a mighty Lancer comeback fell short, 85-76, but it was one more message that North Scott boys basketball is on the move.

OF THE MAQUOKETA effort, Head Coach Dean Brunson said, "Even with our nightmarish start these kids demonstrated how hard they play the game and how much we've improved this year."

The 8-13 overall record may not be impressive in itself, but it embodies far more than mere wins and losses.

Mike McKeown, the horse under the bucket, Ryan Fier, Eric Masterson, Travis Ralfs, Eric Rembold, Lance Golinghorst, John Ratigan, Jeff Johannsen, J.R. Randall -- this group formed the heart of the new Lancers. Their courage combined with the fanatical support of the student body and community gave North Scott the best "sixth man" in the MAC. All these factors made this season one to savor.

Sophs look to bright future with 13-5 season

The Sophomore Boys Basketball team had an exceptionally good year, finishing with a well-deserved fourth place ranking in the MAC Conference.

Coach Mike Wallace was pleased with the progress of his team throughout the season. Said Wallace: "The boys have a lot of good team depth and a great attitude."

Highlights included big conference wins over Davenport West and Burlington, both strong teams.

The 1989-90 cheerleaders experienced a range of activities this year. In October they entertained us with their traditional Homecoming dance routine, entitled "Wild Thing." In December they traveled to State competition with their dance. The Sophomore and Freshman team did well, and the Varsity team placed fourth overall. Cheerleaders were present at all of the football games, girls and guys basketball games, and each wrestling meet. Cheerleaders, too, rode the bus on those long trips to Burlington and Muscatine for various athletic events. One sophomore cheerleader said, "Sometimes we don't get any credit, but we work just as hard as the athletes. We shouldn't be looked down on."

A football or basketball game without our cheerleaders would certainly be a different situation, wouldn't it?

WHENEVER AN ATHLETE is injured, everyone looks for the trainer. Otherwise, it seems few people -- including most of the athletes -- really appreciate the hard work, long hours, special knowledge and responsibility the trainers represent.

Perhaps that's why this year's contingent of student trainers, under the outstanding direction of Head Trainer Paul Flynn, dwindled to just three. But those three young ladies did another great job.

Their duties include taping ankles and knees, filling water bottles, administering first aid -- including CPR -- and keeping the first aid kits properly stocked and available at all times.

Goodbye, friend.

Those never die who are always in our hearts.

Dick Thompson

May 16, 1940-November 15, 1989

On Wednesday, November 15, 1989, the community mourned the death of Richard J. Thompson of Eldridge, Iowa.

Thompson had served as the first and only North Scott Junior High Principal, beginning in 1971. Prior to this, Mr. Thompson spent eight years as a Social Studies teacher at the high school.

Early in July, Thompson suffered a massive heart attack while vacationing in Canada. After surgery, he returned to his home, where he later died.

Past and present students remembered Dick Thompson as a man who truly cared about his job and the students he met. His dedication to North Scott was perhaps best stated by an eighth grade student, in a letter to Thompson's wife, Ann. "He was so understanding. When he died, a piece of the junior high went with him."

hoping and praying that we would finally see our main goal being reached, which was completing this year's Shield.

Setting goals and facing new challenges are a part of life. And in order to take these challenges on you have to have your mind set that you can do it.

There are many people who helped me this year and supported me. I want to thank my mom for making those late-night suppers and the rest of my family for putting up with my bad moods, and Wendy for putting up with my "I don't care attitudes" when things didn't turn out the way I wanted them to. And thanks, too, to Janeen, Terri, Tinky and Dewy -- the people around my locker who supported me -- and the whole Shield staff for helping us to reach this goal.

I hope you enjoy this year's Shield as much as we enjoyed putting it together for you. This year's Shield will help you remember some of the best days of your life.

WHEN I WAS asked to be editor of the yearbook, I was excited. I thought it would be a great way to remember my senior year. And it was!

Many late nights were spent in the darkroom and at the computers

OVER THE PAST few months, my friends, -- and anyone else within earshot -- have heard one of my standard phrases:

- a.) "Hey, I gotta work on the yearbook..."
- b.) "Deadline's coming up."
- c.) "What do you mean it's not in the computer?"
- d.) "Uh-oh!"
- e.) "Help!"
- f.) etc., etc., etc....

I know it takes a lot of patience to calmly accept my yearbook babble, and I appreciate that.

My mother deserves special thanks for being my caterer, and Mr. Kielkopf (even though he's a dork) for locking me in the Shield office at times and kicking me out at others.

Being an editor of the yearbook hasn't been an easy job, but it's one that I wouldn't trade for anything. It's been the biggest learning experience of my life. And it has helped to make me realize that there is more to every situation than meets the eye.

(Oh, yeah -- Mr. Hehnuhgen -- notice the deliberate misspelling -- now that we're done, the terminal's yours, computer hog!)

COLOPHON

THE 1990 SHIELD is Volume 32 in the series of yearbooks published by the students of North Scott High School. This issue contains 184 pages printed by Josten's Printing and Publishing Division in Topeka, Kansas, represented by Mr. Ed Last. The cover is Craffline Embossed with Sundance grain. The cover artwork, created by Senior Jeff Lassiter, was refined by the Josten's art department and is Metalay Silkscreened on the 120-board weight cover. The book was printed on 80-pound gloss paper. Most of the candid and group photographs were taken, printed, and processed by students enrolled in Yearbook Production Class. The main copy type is Times. Most headlines are set in either Bookman or New Century Schoolbook. Individual copies sold for $20 and were prepared for delivery in May. 650 copies were printed. The book you are holding now, produced courtesy of Yearbook Production class, would not be possible without the cooperation of administration, faculty, staff, students and patrons of North Scott High School. We thank you all for letting us share our memories with you.

Brian Rathjen

you helped get a lot done, even if you live a fantasy life. Wendy Hamann and Deb Rosmilso, last year's editors, for allowing me to learn from you. Mom and Dad, for bringing sandwiches from Happy Joe's during late work nights. The activity bus drivers for bringing me home. And finally, Mr. Mike "Hoops" Kielkopf, for putting up with me.

MY SENIOR YEAR at North Scott has really been something special, and that is why I accepted an editorship position on this year's yearbook staff. After spending the best two years of my life in this apricot-colored room, I found out that it actually takes this much work to put one of these books together. I didn't know this until I endured the long hours that it took.

I'd like to thank some people for being there. Angie, you seemed like you were ready to throw in the towel at the beginning of the year -- thanks for hanging in there. You really know what you're doing. You are a great friend, beautiful. Jeff,

MEMORIES -- High school years were a time of goals being made and achieved, but wasn't it more than that? A time of taking things for granted, not sifting through each new day -- just taking it as it happened. A time of doing things you shouldn't have... Sometimes you've just gotta start fresh, learn from the past, and move on... The memories have faded a little, but there is still a fond remembrance. Like looking through a smoked glass window...on a sunny day.

-- Gina Warner, Class of '91
